S.H.E COUNTS

supporting • helping • empowering • women

While women are now the majority of Iowa's population (50.49%), they face a higher percentage of economic barriers, disease and disability, and barriers to corporate and civic leadership than men and boys. S.H.E. COUNTS works to reverse that trend in Poweshiek County.

OUR MISSION:

- To support, help, and empower women and girls in Poweshiek County.

OBJECTIVES:

- To understand the needs of women and girls throughout our county and to raise awareness about those needs to create positive change.
- To engage women to serve as a voice and champion for other women and girls.
- To support under-funded programs and efforts that aid women and girls.
- To inspire collaborative efforts among existing agencies and programs for women and girls.

SPECIFIC GOALS:

1. Annually support a local graduating female senior with a scholarship for post-secondary education.
2. Annually support and promote awareness for International Women's Day on March 8th.
3. Support 3rd and 4th grade girls with after school educational math programming.
4. Provide financial educational opportunities for women in our county.
5. Host high school luncheons for future first generation girls attending college.

ABOUT S.H.E. COUNTS:

S.H.E. COUNTS is a program fund of the Claude W. and Dolly Ahrens Foundation, which serves as an umbrella organization and financial manager for S.H.E. COUNTS and other nonprofit partners and their program funds. S.H.E. COUNTS is headed by a diverse group of women within the county who are committed to helping move women and girls toward self-reliance.

Advisory Board Members: Delphina Baumann, Alicia Blankenfeld, Rachel Bly, Julie Gosselink, Elizabeth Hansen, Ivy Schuster, Emma Kelty-Stephen and Melissa Vine.
